

As alumni of the Junior College of Augusta, Augusta College and Augusta State University, we would like to express our support of the consolidation of ASU and Georgia Health Sciences University. This is an exciting time and a new day for our alma mater, for GHSU, for Augusta, the region, the state and beyond.

We take tremendous pride and pleasure in the accomplishments of our fellow alums, the contributions of our faculty, staff and students. Founded nearly 40 years ago, our association has existed to support those accomplishments, to promote the interests and welfare of current and future generations of ASU alums, and to afford a medium of participation for our members and the community.

As a group, we are 35,000 alumni strong. We are friends of the university. We are business partners. We are donors. We are knowledgeable. We are Jaguars.

As we move toward the future, it is our desire to remain a guiding force in the consolidation of these two great universities. With excitement, we look ahead to future opportunities for our alumni to connect with each other and our university. We also look forward to future growth of the alumni base, our association, all while acknowledging the exciting and challenging times that lie ahead.

We stand behind any progress that brings more recognition to our alma mater, to Augusta and to this region.

And we do so with Jaguar spirit.
