The Administaff Augusta State Invitational

APRIL 4-6, 2008 ❖ CHAMPIONS RETREAT GOLF CLUB ❖ EVANS, GA.

Steeped in the rich golf tradition that is found in Augusta, Ga., the Administaff Augusta State Invitational has steadily grown since its beginning in 1979 and is widely recognized as one of the finest intercollegiate golf tournaments in the nation.

The Augusta Golf Association (established in 1949), a group dedicated to the promotion of golf in the Augusta area with a special emphasis on junior golf development, has served as the long-time host of the Administaff ASU Invitational. Today, the AGA boasts a membership of nearly 200 business and civic leaders.

The Administaff ASU Invitational entered a new era in 2006 with the relocation of the tournament to Champions Retreat Golf Club in Evans, Ga.

In 2007, for the fifth consecutive year, the tournament boasted one of the top fields in the nation, with 10 of the nation's top 31 teams in the field. Coastal Carolina repeated as team champion and while Coastal senior Dustin Johnson fired three consecutive four-under 68's to claim medalist honors.

With three distinct nines designed by golf icons and major champions Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, Champions Retreat Golf Club offers three unique golf settings.

Player's nine features the low country marshes of Euche Creek while the surrounding bluffs are enhanced with Nicklaus's nine. The experience of Palmer's nine includes a 280-acre island with miles of shoreline along the Savannah River.

Forest Hills Golf Club, home to the Augusta State University men's and women's golf programs and host of the tournament from 1979-2005, is very much a rich part of the rich golf history of the area. The course, built in 1926 by famed architect Donald Ross, served for many years as home to the Southeastern Open.

It was at Forest Hills that Bobby Jones began his brilliant play in 1930. Jones himself credited his victory at the Southeastern as the spark for his amazing stretch that saw him claim both the U.S. Amateur and U.S. Open and both the British Amateur and British Open, becoming the first player in history to capture the Grand Slam.

Over the years, the likes of future PGA Tour professionals who graced the fairways of Forest Hills Golf Club include Jodie Mudd, Gene Sauers, Davis Love III, Jerry Haas, Nolan Henke, Phil Mickelson, Steve Lowery, Blaine McCallister, John Inman, Tim Herron, Justin Leonard, Harrison Frazar, Tom Scherrer, Dickey Pride, Brad Faxon, Woody Austin, Richard Johnson, Vaughn Taylor, Lucas Glover, Jonathan Byrd, Hunter Mahan, D.J. Trahan, Troy Matteson, Bill Haas, Nick Watney, Oliver Wilson, Charles Howell III, Camilo Villegas, Graeme McDowell, Garrett Willis, Darron Stiles, John Rollins and Paul Casey.

Augusta College's Roger Rowland (1986 and 1988) and North Carolina's John Inman (1982 and 1983) are the only multiple medalists in tourney history ... The tournament record for lowest 18 holes is 8-under 64 and has been accomplished four times, most recently by Augusta State's Oliver Wilson during the final round of the 2003 event ...
