COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed to provide future educators with the fundamental knowledge of understanding culture and teaching children from diverse backgrounds. Specifically, this course is designed to examine 1) the nature and function of culture; 2) the development of individual and group cultural identity; 3) definitions and implications of diversity; and 4) the influences of culture on learning, development and pedagogy. There will be a 20 hour field component to this course. You cannot pass this course without it.

Time documentation and Evaluation forms may be found on-line at jgray@aug.edu. You must download these forms and use them when you select your school for placement (field component to this course). The Criminal Background form must be filled-out and submitted prior contacting your school placement. You will be unable to select a school for placement until this step is completed.

TEXTBOOK:

American Education (14th edition) by Joel Spring

Supplemental Materials: (Will be added to the existing texts) Videos and Articles)

LiveText

All students admitted to degree programs in the College of Education are required to purchase LiveText software through the ASU bookstore. ~~LiveText~~ is an electronic, web-based data management service that allows students and faculty to create, store, and publish documents online using a word-processing format. All students will upload assignments, their portfolio, and other required documents into LiveText. LiveText works better with the Mozilla Firefox browser rather than Internet Explorer. Students may Google Mozilla Firefox and download it to their computers.

College of Education Conceptual Framework

Understanding for Teaching, Teaching for Understanding

The preparation of educators is the most critical of all professions, without educators there are no other professions. The professional educator is the key element in the learning process. Building on the key elements of the professional educator, the Conceptual Framework of the unit of Augusta State University consists of a vision and mission with an overarching theme to produce prepared, able, and responsive professionals to teach diverse learners.

This vision and mission is a shared responsibility between campus colleagues, public school practitioners, and involved community agencies requiring the partnership of the entire education unit including the College of Education, the College of Arts and Sciences, and the local community educational system and the Partner School Network.

Element: Prepared (PD)

P1: Demonstrate strong content and pedagogical preparation in their respective subject area or professional field.

Element: Responsive (RD)

R1: A respect for the dignity of all persons. All children can learn and have the right to an opportunity to do so.

R3: Understanding of how students differ in their approaches to learning and demonstrate the commitment for meeting their educational needs in fair, caring, nondiscriminatory, and equitable manners.

1. Program-Specific Standards Addressed in This Course (None)

2. Academic Honesty

Students are expected to read and strictly adhere to the entire Academic Honesty policy found on page 42–43 of the 2009–10 Augusta State University Catalog. In part, the policy reads:

“Academic honesty requires the presentation for evaluation and credit of one’s own work, not the work of others...Plagiarism is the failure to acknowledge indebtedness. It is always assumed that the written work offered for evaluation and credit is the student’s own unless otherwise acknowledged. Such acknowledgement should occur whenever one quotes another person’s actual works, whenever one appropriates another person’s ideas, opinions, or theories, even if they are paraphrased, and whenever one borrows facts, statistics, or other illustrative materials unless the information is common knowledge.”

3. Pipeline Account

Students are encouraged to check their Pipeline account daily. Students are responsible for any assignments or deadlines sent to them via Pipeline. If you have trouble accessing your Pipeline account, you should contact Information Technology Services at 737-1676. Computers and printers are available free of charge in computer labs throughout campus as well as the library and campus Internet cafes for students who do not have access from a home computer.

4. Department of Educational Leadership, Counseling and Special Education Website

Students are invited to visit the departmental website at: <http://www.aug.edu/clinical> A variety of forms, some interactive, may be downloaded from the website. There are also newsletters, registration information and announcements which students will find useful. Most forms are in Adobe Acrobat. All campus computers have Adobe Acrobat Reader installed and students can download Adobe Acrobat Reader for their home computer at no charge from: <http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/>

5. Writing Center

You may contact the ASU Writing Center (737-1402) for help with developing and improving composition skills. If you would like additional help with writing or with learning APA style, inform the class instructor.

6. Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who are registered with the Office of Disability Services should schedule an appointment with the instructor before the third week of class to discuss academic accommodations. If the student does not initiate this meeting, it is assumed no special accommodations or modifications will be necessary to meet the requirements of this course. You may make an appointment by calling the Counseling and Testing Center (706) 737-1471 or visit their office located in the Quadrangle, next to Fanning Hall (Business Office).

7. Student Safety

Student safety is of primary importance. Students leaving classes late in the evening are encouraged to stay in groups of two or more and to report all suspicious behavior or persons to the ASU Office of Public Safety (emergency number 706-729-2911; non-emergency 706-737-1401). Emergency telephones are located in the University Hall parking lot and various other locations on campus.

8. Cell Phones

The use of cell phones for calls, text messaging, or other tasks is prohibited in class.

Course Content:

A. Lectures, videos, personal portraits, books, short stories, other media will be used in examining diversity, with possible attention paid to minority schooling in Georgia.

B. Use videos, documentaries, government reports (historical and contemporary) in examining “real-world” cases.

C. Student writing in the form of essays, reaction papers and position papers examining the various sides of critical issues in education (e.g., separation of church and state) and supporting personal positions with relevant and applicable arguments.

D. Case studies of current issues/events, legislation and consideration of sociopolitical contexts.

E. Guest speakers (from different venues in the education field).

F. Case studies of teachers' roles, duties, rights, responsibilities; expectations at school, system and state levels.

ESSAY GUIDELINES AND SCORING RUBRIC

1. The essay will have a minimum of at least 5 pages of text. This does not include your cover page, abstract or bibliography. You must use the American Psychological Association (APA) style for your manuscript (essay). There will be no exceptions!
2. You must have at least 5 scholarly sources to support your essay. I will not accept sources that are not scholarly.
3. Your essay (and all assignments) must be done with Microsoft Word! Do not use Microsoft Pad or Microsoft notebook!!! You must double space and use 12 for your font size.
3. The thesis statement must be underlined. I will deduct points from your essay if it is not underlined. A thesis statement is not an entire paragraph! It is only one sentence!!!

4. You must take position in your essay. You are not writing a research paper. However, your essay must be supported by scholars in the area you choose to write about. You are writing an essay that is research based.
5. Your manuscript must be edited. Do not submit a paper full of grammatical blunders and spelling errors. Your essay must be proofed and signed by the person doing the proofing.
6. Note of caution: If you have multiple papers to write or if you take a considerable amount of time to write a paper, get started early!!!
7. Save all your work electronically! (I may ask for a CD)

GRADING BREAKDOWN FOR ESSAY/SCORING RUBRIC (Mechanics and Content):

Score 0–9 for items 1 through 10. Score 5--10 for item 11 only

1. ____ Abstract and Thesis (Clearly stated and underlined) Thesis must be a single statement!
2. ____ Organization of paper/organization of ideas
3. ____ Spelling/Sentence Structure
4. ____ Support of ideas (from creditable sources)
5. ____ Proper citations/proper use of quotes (in the text)
6. ____ Position taken in your essay (make your position known)
7. ____ Bibliography (proper use of APA format) No exceptions!
8. ____ Length of essay/Signed by the proof reader
9. ____ Fluency/logical flow (logical and coherent)
10. ____ Overall readability/college level work
11. ____ Synthesis of all the elements above

Note: If you have multiple papers to write or if you take a considerable amount of time to write a paper, get started early!

Guidelines for Reaction Paper

(“The Road to Brown”)

Your response to each question should address what is being asked and not what I consider as “side issues.” Save side issues for discussion in the comment section. Both questions and responses must be typed (word processed) and double spaced.

1. What surprised you most about the video? Explain your response(s).
2. Was the video effective in helping you to understand the struggle to desegregate the public schools? Explain.

3. What have you learned about the school desegregation effort? Explain.

- When did it begin?
- Why do you think many European Americans opposed school desegregation?

4. Please speculate why you were not familiar with Charles H. Houston prior to this video.

5. What additional comments do you have?

A Little About Philosophy

Philosophy is not empirical, it is a speculative enterprise. It is concerned with discovery and explanation, with meaning and understanding of life.

There are three (or four) Branches of Philosophy that many Philosophers tend to agreed on. Some suggest that there are three branches while some others argue that there are four branches. Some even suggest that there are only two areas of Philosophy: Analytical and Descriptive. Yet, most educational books on Philosophy adhere to the models that use three or four branches.

A. Model 1:

1. Metaphysics
2. Epistemology
3. Axiology

B. Model 2:

1. Metaphysics
2. Epistemology
3. Axiology
4. Logic

Metaphysics: the branch of philosophy that deals with various theories of reality. Metaphysics seeks to answer the questions; what is real? Is existence only physical? Is there existence after death? How real are things? Are they only real in our minds? What is the self? It includes the study of cosmology; which sees the universe as an orderly system and ontology; which looks at the nature of being.

Epistemology: the branch of philosophy that is concerned with theories on the nature of human knowledge. Epistemology tries to answer the second set of general philosophical questions; how do we know? How do our senses help to give us knowledge? Are there greater forms of knowledge than we are aware of? What does it mean to learn?

Axiology: the branch of philosophy that specifies the nature of values, the kinds of values, and the values worth possessing. Axiology seeks to answer the question; what is of value? It includes the study of ethics and aesthetics. Ethics deals with issues of what is right or wrong and good or bad. Aesthetics deals with the issue of beauty. What is meant by the Aclassics? (Who's Classics?)

Logic: the branch of philosophy that deals with the rules and principles of reasoning. Logic is often viewed as a subfield of Epistemology. It includes the study of inductive and deductive reasoning.

Inductive reasoning is a form of logic that moves from the specific to the general. Deductive reasoning moves from the general to the specific (a good example is syllogism). For example, all women are mortal, Mary is a woman; therefore Mary is mortal.

Note: Both Schools of Philosophy and Educational Philosophies are based upon the Branches of Philosophies. I will not distinguish between Schools of Philosophy and Educational Philosophy.
