Tenets of Greek Life

Leadership

Membership in a sorority provides amazing opportunities to grow and develop as a person, as well as acquire life skills that will benefit you beyond your time in college. Sororities have appointed and elected leadership positions, and members attend leadership development conferences. These experiences give women the chance to acquire the skills and competencies that employers and graduate programs look for in potential candidates. Sorority members also hold leadership positions in other campus organizations, such as the Student Government Association, Jaguar Activities Board, and the Student Ambassador Board.

Scholarship

The Panhellenic community at Augusta State values and strives for academic excellence. Many of the sorority members are also members of academic honoraries and on the Dean's List. The chapters provide numerous resources to their members to support their academic endeavors. The chapters also implement programming to help further members' academic success. Some of these programs include tutoring and mentoring for women in the same major, study hours, scholarship opportunities, academic incentives, and educational programs.

Service To Others

The sorority community emphasizes service to others and giving back to the local community. The Panhellenic Council and the chapters host events with the Girl Scouts of Historic Georgia, as well as participate in various service events throughout campus and the Augusta area. Each chapter also sponsors a national philanthropy; throughout the year, the members raise funds and awareness for the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation (Zeta Tau Alpha) and Ronald McDonald House (Alpha Delta Pi). Sorority members make sure to set time out of their already busy schedules to lend a hand to those in need.

Dear Prospective New Member,

Welcome to Augusta State University! Thank you for taking the time to learn more about sorority life and what sorority membership can do for you.

Greek life has been present on ASU's campus for over 30 years now, but the traditions of sisterhood, scholarship and service date back to our foundings in the 1800's. Our sorority members have a wide variety of interests and are active all across campus. They are Student Government Association senators, members of the Jaguar Activities Board, leaders in other student organizations, and many of them do all of this while balancing school and jobs too.

Regardless of how you feel about Greek life right now – maybe you know you want to join, or maybe you have reservations – we hope you take the opportunity to find out more about our chapters. We invite you to visit our website, find us on Facebook, or stop by Greeks on the Yard. We want you to get to know us, and we're excited to get to know you too.

Please feel free to email either one of us with questions you may have regarding sorority life at Augusta State University. We look forward to seeing you on campus!

Panhellenic Creed

We, as undergraduate members of women's fraternities, stand for good scholarship, for guarding of good health, for maintenance of fine standards, and for serving, to the best of our ability, our college community. Cooperation for furthering fraternity life, in harmony with its best possibilities, is the deal that shall guide our fraternity activities.

We, as Fraternity Women, stand for service through the development of character inspired by the close contact and deep friendship of individual fraternity and Panhellenic life. The opportunity for wide and wise human service, through mutual respect and helpfulness, is the tenet by which we strive to life.

Informal Recruitment:

Informal recruitment begins immediately following the conclusion of formal recruitment and will continue throughout the academic year. For those women who do not join a sorority during formal recruitment, this is a great opportunity to become involved with the Panhellenic community. The chapters facilitate their own informal recruitment and decide when and where to hold their events. If you would like to participate in informal recruitment, look for advertisements from the chapters or contact the Panhellenic Council. The chapters choose if they would like to participate in informal recruitment, an important fact to keep in mind while deciding which process is best for you.

Why you should join!

Membership in a sorority is not just something you do while you're in college – it is an experience that will carry over into your life after you graduate from college. As an undergraduate member, you will form deep friendships, develop your skills as a leader, and have many opportunities to give back to the campus and Augusta community. It will also help you build more friendships and connections across campus, whether it be with members of another sorority or with a member of an organization that you co-sponsored an event with.

But joining a sorority is more than what you do while you are a student at Augusta State; Greek membership provides many opportunities to stay involved with your organization and stay connected to your sisters after you graduate. Sorority members continue to network with one another, volunteer within the organization and local communities, and attend conferences and workshops to continue developing their leadership skills. Greek membership truly means a lifetime of opportunities.
